How do You Make Coffee?

Is it always clear and sparkling with an appetizing aroma and delicious flavor, or is it sometimes flat or bitter?

With UNIVERSAL Percolators flat or bitter coffee is impossible, because only the full flavor and aroma are extracted from the berry. There is no boiling and no bitter taste.

The Patented Pumping Process, an exclusive UNIVERSAL feature, forces the water through the coffee six to ten times more than any other percolator, completing the process of percolation before the water boils, and extracting all of the healthful properties of the coffee but none of the bitter and injurious ones. Rich, fragrant and delicious coffee made in

CONSIDER NO CHANGE IN RESERVE BANK LAW

Washington, Nov. 27.—Representative Glass, of Virginia, chairman of the house committee on banking, said today that while his committee would consider recommendations in regard to the reserve bank law, he did not believe it would approve any change in the system. The reserve bank act was working too well, he said, for any radical departures.

The Limit.

"For a camel to go through the eye of a needle is considered about the limit of impossibility, isn't it?" "Oh, I don't know. It's no more impossible than for a collar button to slip out of one's fingers and roll toward the middle of the floor."

Holding Hands.

"Why is the parlor clock stopped every morning?"

CHRISTMAS GIFTS
 S. M. T.

Some months ago when flowers were abundant and everything was fresh and green, I spoke of Christmas gifts, and advised women with nimble fingers to utilize the long summer afternoons in making their presents.

It really was very sensible advice, but it met the fate of most advice, no one paid any attention to it. I have talked to a dozen women lately, and heard the same lament from every one. Christmas only a few weeks off, and nothing done, so I have come to the conclusion that they revel in the rush, they worry, the mad excitement, of packages going, bundles and boxes coming, the whirl of tissue paper, ribbon, stickers and cards. They don't want to "take time by the forelock," they do not in the least desire to have their gifts ready, and boxed they do not care for a "sane" Christmas, they love to rush wildly through store after store, pricing this, looking at that, tired, cross, pretending to hate it, and really loving every minute of it.

That is one reason that women as a rule, give such extraordinary presents, they do not give themselves time to think. "Mercy, I must get something for Susan, I forgot her completely, what on earth shall it be. I have so little money left, and so much I simply have to buy, there is a bag, the very thing 'oh goodness! I gave her one last year, here is a basket, it is pretty enough, and ten cents cheaper, don't tell me she has dozens of them, I don't care, I am absolutely worn out, and won't look at another thing." "So poor Susan, or Polly, or Jane, groans as she opens a daintily packed parcel." Another basket! There are two or three on every table in the house.

"Now if Susan's friend had given herself time to remember how dear Susan loved a book, and how Jane who detests reading, has a passion for collecting baskets, she would not have sent Jane the book and Susan the basket. A magazine is the nicest of gifts, and to your music loving friend a new song or two, a piece of good music. For those who keep houses, many charming and most acceptable gifts can be made, a table runner, towels, center pieces, handkerchiefs, collars and cuff sets. The delightful part of Christmas to me is trying to get something for your friends that you know they want. If you have not a full pocket book, make the gifts yourself, but do put a little thought in the making. Don't send a set of towels to your wealthy friend, who can buy all she needs, send them to a person of modest means, who cannot afford but the plainest of house linen, four or six beautifully initialed towels would delight her, but the initials must be well done, one badly embroidered will destroy the beauty of the damask.

I have seen an exquisite set of table linen ruined by a badly worked monogram. In sending a gift, let it be an expression of thought and affection, however small and inexpensive it may be. A dainty little present sent by a poor girl to a rich one, was a set of lavender bags, six little linen hearts with scalloped edges, and a delicate spray of the flower embroidered on it in blue and pale green, were stuffed with lavender, which the clever girl gathered early in the morning, when its fragrance was strongest, and dried carefully and away for Christmas use. Tied with lavender ribbon this bit of sweetness and beauty made not only a charming gift, but one that was heartily received and rejoiced over by the city girl.

Don't buy trash, if one would just think, they would see that the same amount of money spent in buying perfectly useful, or Christmas junk, if sensibly placed, would give so much pleasure. "The most beautiful and flash light are two presents that will give endless comfort to whom is fortunate enough to get them.

For the friend who embroiders, or sews there are some charming gifts in the line of work boxes, the Savannah News mentions the following: A tiny leather box, not more than two or three inches long, which contains all the implements needed for mending. Just the thing for a suit case or hand bag. Then there are beautiful wicker work boxes filled with spoons of thread silk and cotton of every color. There is also a small silk bag for traveling. It is made with little pockets around the inside, each containing a card of silk or thread of different colors, darning cotton, a card of buttons, another of snap fasteners, a thimble and a pair of scissors. For those who prefer making their own gifts, there are many clever ideas. A mattress pillowcase made of satin and stuffed with wool, and filled with pins of all kind, gold headed, pearl, rose, blue, green and WARNING: You may not realize it but those slight arches at the heels and ankles, those painful cramped toes, that body weariness and brain fog are typical of weak arches and likely to result in a serious derangement of the whole system. Many people have mistaken these pains for rheumatism of the feet and have tried internal remedies to correct them when all they needed was proper support of the feet arches.

Reason for This Demonstration

It has been our ever constant aim to make this the most progressive shoe store in town. For months we have thoroughly investigated the efficiency of the service rendered users of Dr. Scholl's Foot Specialties and wearers of his appliances. We have seen people who previously walked with great difficulty now able to stand the most rigorous exercising of the feet, enduring long walks and long standing without the slightest annoyance. We have found every one of Dr. Scholl's corrective devices anatomically correct and scientifically perfect. To give our patrons and friends the fullest benefit of the Scholl Foot Comfort we have arranged this demonstration and will henceforth conduct in our store an orthopedic department for continued service of this character. We are headquarters for Scholl's Foot Comfort Specialties and Appliances.

We are recommending our 10-1-0 and 10-2-0 and 10-2-1/2-0 for wheat and oats this fall when you sow it.

This will give it stalk and grains in the head, and that is what you want in grain. If you will sow five acres in wheat and five in oats this fall, after preparing the land well and fertilizing it well with either of these goods, you will find it advantageous. The 10-2-1/2-0 is an especially fine goods for grain. Let us hear from you.
